

Mighty Mouse I

1. Most Comfortable - Microsoft Mouse

- a. I think this is the most comfortable mouse for me because I like to be able to hold it with my thumb. As you can see from my handprint the section E1 is painted. As well as you can see all of my fingers and my palm. I also like the way it feels on the B sections that finger rests nicely on the mouse.

2. Second Best- Lenovo Mouse

- a. This mouse was not quite as comfortable to me because there was no contact on E1 or E2 as well as none on F4. Although again the finger sections (A-D) did allow for good contact.

3. Third Best- Amazon Basics

- a. This one takes the third spot as I really enjoyed how much contact and comfort I have through sections F1-F3, and there was a little print of E1. However, I don't like how section D fit, it seemed cramped due to the angle of the mouse.

4. Least Comfortable- Apple Mouse

- a. The apple mouse was the worst to me. This is because I could not get a good hold of it and felt like it was sliding out of my hand. There is no place to put E1 or E2 as well as even section A that you should be using to click did not seem to lay comfortably on the mouse.
